

Saturday, December 16

Scripture Reading: I Corinthians 13.13 and John 15. 13-15

Text for Today: And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love; and Greater love hath no man than that he lay down his life for his friends.

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas. The stores are displaying their Christmas wares even earlier this year in the hopes that they will have hugely successful sales. We as Christians think about the real meanings of Christmas. We celebrate the birth of Jesus during this part of our year because we believe that his sacrifice of his life allows us to hope that we might receive the grace of God when our lives are over and we hope to be in heaven with the Father, Son and Holy Ghost for the coming eternity.

I Corinthians 13.13 "And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love." By asking us for our faith, Jesus granted us our hope for eternal life by giving his life for our sins as the greatest demonstration of love!

So during this Christmas season read I Corinthians 13.13, John 15. 13-15, and remember Christ in your heart by praying for Him and your friends. It will surely enhance your enjoyment of Christmas.

Peace and Love to you all!

Bob Smith

